PROFESSIONALS WHO UNDERSTAND POST-POLIO SYNDROME AND THE NEEDS OF THE POLIO SURVIVOR

The symptoms of Post-Polio Syndrome are excessive fatigue, muscle weakness, muscle pain and respiratory difficulties.

The diagnosis of PPS is made by excluding other causes that could mimic these symptoms. Therefore, it is very important to have a complete medical evaluation by a physician with understanding and training in the treatment of post-polio patients (self-diagnosis is very dangerous).

The most successful help we can give you in understanding PPS is education for you, the survivor, as well as your family and friends. This can be found in a strong and active post-polio support group in your area.
